

Name: "Nam" Thanthida Aramjaras

City of birth: Bangkok

Country of birth: Thailand

All about me:

Birth Date : March 16, 1998

Age : 18

Nationality : Thai

Race : Thai

Religion : Buddhism

Blood Type : O

Favorite Color : Blue

Favorite Foods : Spaghetti, Papaya and Sushi

Hobbies : Listen to music

My experience living in Canada is very difficult because i miss all my family in my country. I stay in canada because i want to finish school here and have a nice jobs in canada to support my family in thailand. My experience in canada is to become a nurse in canada that's my dream job. All my experience in canada is good i have a good time stay in canada and a nice friend from many country. My experience to live in canada is hard but i still have to fight for everything that hard for me. I have a hard time when i first come to canada because i not understand anything of english word, but i try my best to study a lot to get better in english so i will have a better job to help my family back home. Now i have another experience that i have to fight for myself and my family back home that i have to get into the university and finish nursing that will make myself successful and make my family happy. That's all my experience living in canada.